IN MEMORIAM 192

A 1960 NEW TRIER graduate would find it hard to picture graduating from the New Trier of 60 years ago. To him, New Trier is a melange of modern buildings, out-of-room permits, ability groupings, and special bulletins. Hence, the New Trier of other years, the foundation of today's dynamic institution, would be hardly recognizable to him. For New Trier, its students, and its traditions have undergone changes in every respect. The more obvious changes, especially the immense structural renovation of the past decade, speak for themselves. Yet other, more subtle changes, fads, and student attitudes characteristic of particular eras in New Trier's history are perhaps less obvious and more interesting. To give an idea of New Trier as it was, five faculty members who are New Trier graduates have volunteered information recalled from their own high school experiences. They are: Mr. Miner Coburn; Miss Laura Durgin; Mr. Michael Greenbaum; Mr. Donald Ickes; and Miss Jean KixMiller. From their recollections comes a picture of a New Trier High School very different and yet strangely similar to the school of the present.

The New Trier student of the early 1900's had no need to cope with the problems of a unified student body. Because of small enrollments, it was common for one student to know every other student in his class, and for the class to act as a social as well as an academic unit. A further unifying measure was the all-school assembly which began each school day. Students were assigned permanent assembly-seats which facilitated quick taking of the roll. There were no adviser chairmen in those early days, for the adviser system had not yet been initiated. A tardy student knew that he was to report straight to the dean and volubly explain the reason for his late arrival. Similarly, on the first day of school, program cards were distributed by the attendance office rather than the adviser and were brought back there for correction of the inevitable mistakes. Although lack of advisers lent a degree of impersonality to the administration, the close-knit class groups achieved a type of friendliness and camaraderie which large numbers render impossible today.

Just as the administrative system of the old New Trier would seem quaint to the student of the present, so would the modest physical set-up. In 1915 the old tower building, recently torn down, was the only school building. At the top of this tower was a tiny room with a peaked roof where English classes met, a far cry from the modern tower room which now serves precisely the same purpose. Where students now use functional and spacious facilities, earlier students did research in a library no larger than the attendance office. Much later, in 1951, New Trier-ites used the old auditorium where the seats faced each other and not the stage. And the huge front lawn, now restricted to students, was the site for boy scout camp-outs and later a special gathering place for seniors.

While actual distances within the township have not changed, the student of an earlier era managed to make the long trek to school without benefit of automobile transportation. Those who did not live in the more remote suburbs walked to school in all weather. Others, whose homes were

The distant took the North Shore trains and there were none of the school buses on the today line Winnetka Avenue. One of the most popular modes of transportation to school was bicycling. Bicycles during school hours in sheds provided by New Trier. These sheds were the only existing ones at that time and it was still unheard of for a teen to drive the family car to school.

Teachers and students during the old New Trier years were the same as today's teachers and students. The present day teachers and students are still the same and service to the school yet today's teachers in stride with New Trier's accelerated pace. They performed their jobs with more efficiency than their predecessors. G.A.A., as well, enjoyed a large following, despite the tall blue serge bloomers which were the prescribed costume for the playing field. ECHOES in 1915 was a monthly magazine, running from October to June, a makeshift combination of the now separate publications, Inklings, the News and ECHOES itself. The first issue devoted itself entirely to freshman; the final issue, for seniors only, was divided into past, present, and future sections, respectively, senior activities, graduation photos, and the class prophecy. Tri Ship, too, outdid themselves during the forties, when they hired Benny Goodman and Tommy Dorsey to play at their dances.

While student supervision of study halls and other activities nowadays excites no comment, it was considered a radical innovation when introduced around 1940. Prior to that time study halls had faculty supervision.

"Right!" screeched the little man. "Pull up a chair. You look so stupid sitting in that waste basket. Now then, what seems to be the trouble?"

"Well," began the man, "nothing ever happens around here. Even Fiction is flat."

"Ah, you just don't know," sighed the little man. "Fiction was not always the big, glossy-paged book you children put out these days. I can remember as clearly as if it were today that December of nineteen-hundred-four when the first Fiction came out. New Trier was only four years old and Issue Number One was a 7 by 8 inch paper-bound booklet with nine pages of stories, jokes, and school information. It was sort of a literary magazine and paper combined. It had announcement about the great growth of the orchestra formed four years before, and about the football team, which was indefinitely disbanded because of injuries to the four best players.

"Say, this is getting interesting," remarked Our Hero. "What was the school like then?"

"Well," answered the little man, assuming a horizontal position above the head. "New Trier had only the building, with the tower, surrounded on the north, east, and west by woods and swampland. Winnetka Avenue, which you and you know for racing, was then but a mud dy little road.

Our Hero blushed.

"Where the dining hall now stands was the athletic field. The lunch hall was the basement where the secret ate their lunches brought from home."

"That's fine and dandy," said Our Hero. "What about the students?"

"I was just getting to that," said the little man, rather indistinctly. "In 1904 the entire enrollment at New Trier was one hundred and six students, not quite as many as now."

The Mathematics of Growth:

The curriculum in 1901 included English, French, German, Latin, Greek, mathematics, history, science, and freehand drawing. Greek dropped out years ago, and Spanish and Russian were added in turn. From time to time, new departments of instruction have been established and in every department new courses have been added and others dropped in the effort to keep curricular offerings up to date. Now, 16 departments of instruction give 270 courses in 47 subjects.

The comprehensive high school of today is expected to accommodate practically all of the youth of the community and to provide suitable programs of study for a wide range of abilities, interests, and motivations. At New Trier this has meant the elaboration of courses, the thoroughgoing practice of ability or subject level grouping, and careful counseling through the adviser system. Failures have been reduced to a negligible amount, yet 92% of the graduates go on to college, where about 70% of them stay through graduation and many perform brilliantly.

The adviser system is almost as old as New Trier. After early experiments in assigning faculty members as sponsors for groups of 12 to 15 students, the home room plan began to take effect in 1912. In 1923, when Frederick E. Clerk became superintendent, a thorough reorganization of the system was accomplished and the whole plan was named the adviser system. Earlier, some women had been advisers to boys' groups, but in 1923 men advisers were assigned to boys' groups and women advisers to girls' groups. That practice has continued for 37 years.

One of the distinguishing characteristics of the adviser system is the selection of the members of each adviser group by the freshman adviser chairmen. Great care is exercised to see that in each adviser group there is a cross-section of the student population. This insures that a student will benefit from the experience of working with a varied group of people. The adviser system, in addition to being a primary means of achieving home and school cooperation, is the key to the internal organization of the school and the management of a large number of students as separate persons.

College counseling, always an integral part of the work of advisers, adviser chairmen, and deans, has become more specialized. The increasing competitiveness of college admissions and the growing task of advising large numbers of students have caused the school to establish two adminis-

THE STUDENT CABINET is a composite of all the leaders of New Trier's major organizations and serves as a link between the faculty and the student body. Meeting once a week, the Cabinet discusses problems concerning the entire school. This year's cabinet has discussed such matters as litter in the halls, a tutorial system, the privileges of officers, and the handling of large assemblies. After making a decision on a problem or question, the Cabinet then advises the proper organization on how to deal with it. This is the first year that the Student Cabinet has played such an active role in student affairs.

posts devoted almost entirely to college counseling. Visits to the school by college officers have been frequent. The high school's college counselors to colleges and to conferences of admissions counselors. The superintendent through his association with college officers and officials of the College Entrance Examination Board, has directed the expansion of college counseling at New Trier.

Completion of the new science classrooms and laboratories, and the refurbishing of the old ones, have enabled the school to offer chemistry, physics, and electronics to more than 100 students following refresher courses in colleges and universities last summer, the physics teachers completely revamped their courses to emphasize basic science instead of the technological applications that had in the past cluttered textbooks and courses throughout the country. The new courses and the new methods of teaching follow the pioneering work of physicists led by Professor Zacharias of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

The mathematics curriculum introduced a new course in freshman algebra to several sections to test new materials developed by the School Mathematics Study Group of which Mr. Swan of the New Trier faculty is a member. Development continued in higher level courses in the theory of sets, statistical probability, Boolean algebra, modern algebra, and symbolic logic.

The social studies curriculum introduced two one-semester courses at the "2" subject level in the senior year. Labeled 20th Century U.S. and 20th Century World, they attracted large enrollments for new courses. They were written during the preceding summer by Mr. Shearer and Mr. Knupter of the New Trier faculty.

A second year of special vocational education was offered this year for several New Trier students and for a few others from neighboring communities by contractual arrangement.

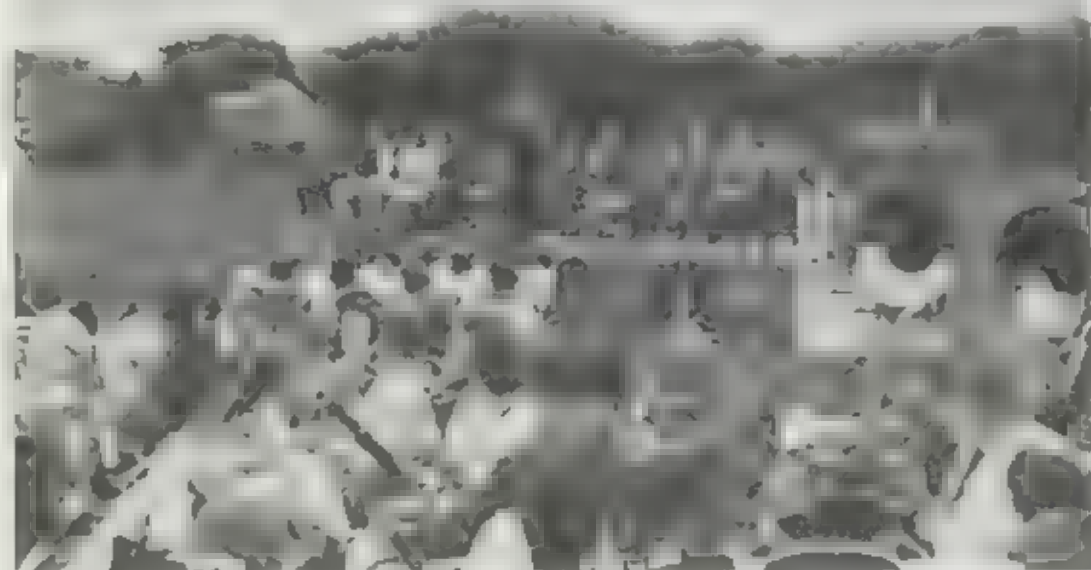

The music courses were expanded to provide work in musical composition and advanced harmony and appreciation in addition to the numerous performing groups at various levels of artistic development.

Electives were also increased by the establishment of a course in advertising in the business education program.

Speech therapy became available for larger numbers of students, and every freshman was given a hearing test.

Audio-visual supplements came into wider use to enrich instruction in established or developing courses. Closed-circuit television was again studied carefully but deemed not yet suitable for adoption at New Trier.

A reading center was established with the employment of a new teacher to work with individual students, small classes, and, more importantly, with teachers in various departments for the improvement of reading in all areas of instruction.

supervision which the adroit students tried to evade by frantic note passing. The confusing maze of permits and red tape is also relatively new to New Trier. Happily, oral permission to leave the room was sufficient, and New Trier-ites did not have to worry about pink permits, lounge cards and inquisitive hall guards. The 1940's also marked the real beginning of the honor system. And Lagniappe started in 1939. The primary Lagniappes bore no trace of the recent extravaganzas but were rather small amateur shows. Even then, however, Lagniappe was "the most important thing in the world."

In 1960, the New Trier-ite spends most of his four years working toward one goal—college acceptance. Similarly, the administration has faced the increasingly difficult problem of admission by accelerating New Trier's whole educational machine. Before the pressure for college acceptance began to tighten, however, the quantity of assigned homework was markedly less, especially when compared to the loads of homework given today's students. As a result, past students had more time to themselves, time which they could devote to extra-curricular activities or to just enjoying themselves. Classes, were not as hard or as comprehensive as at present, yet New Trier graduates have always managed to get through college, and most have done well.

Because of today's preoccupation with college, both as a stimulus and as a goal, students nowadays would feel out of place in one of New Trier's wartime classes. Graduates of classes during both world wars knew that they would step from high school graduation into active military service. College education, therefore, was completely out of the picture, at least until a much later date. Although they knew that their country was at war, New Trier-ites were reportedly not as cynical as their counterparts of 1960. They did, however, display the same apathy toward their school roundings, an attitude characteristic of most towns.

The 1960 New Trier student is subject to one of the country's most successful educational and administrative systems. Such a system has taken years to form and is constantly adjusting to meet the needs of the thousands of students now living in the township. New Trier has through the years kept its fine faculty-student ratio. The adviser system, introduced around 1925 preserves the personal link between students and the administration. The personal elements is further preserved by the many excellent teacher-student relationships which continue to exist despite increasing enrollment. While the New Trier of today strides ahead of the New Trier of 60 years ago, past tradition plays a large part in the operation of the school. The ideas of superior educational opportunities, student assumption of responsibility, and the encouragement of individual development are rooted in New Trier's past, upheld at the present and will certainly continue in the future.

Revision and Referendum

THE STUDENT BODY PRESSED FOR MORE INFLUENCE IN COUNCIL AND GOT IT

Two of the primary objectives of council this year were to increase its methods of citizenship training and to adapt its activities to New Trier's increased enrollment. Under the leadership of this year's president, council carried out the first major revision of its written philosophy in eleven years. The revision was made so that all students could have a clearer understanding of council's goals. Council also passed a bill which granted the students the right of referendum on all its legislation.

The vice president was in charge of all council talks and council elections. The secretary took charge of council's correspondence and kept minutes which were posted on bulletin boards throughout the school. In addition to budgeting the activities ticket fund, the treasurer established a new system of giving bi-weekly reports to keep the representatives informed concerning his department.

The study hall department was strengthened by a change from electing supervisors to appointing them. Also improved by a new system of selection and by frequent staff meetings was the library supervisory staff. The heads of lunch hall carried out the task of reorganizing their committee in accordance with the change from three lunch periods a day to four.

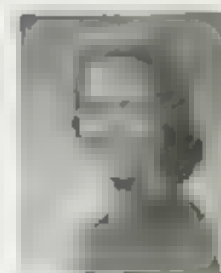

A study of the problems in the two student parking lots was made by the safety department, and resulted in a change in the method of checking parking permits. In accordance with a bill passed by council, card ter understanding of its goals among both students and faculty. The head of service looked after the general condition of the council office, organized the Freshman Code of Ethics Assembly, and instituted discussions of the Code in Sophomore, Junior, and Senior English classes.

In addition to working with other student organizations on promoting all games, rallies and establishing a cheerleading section, the spirit helped bring back senior boys' sweat shirts. The department arranged all council assemblies, developed the new form of simultaneous council officer election assemblies, and took charge of plans for the Northeast-Northwest District Council Convention, which was held at New Trier in November.

For his guidance and support of all council activities throughout the year, special thanks were due to Mr. David Gustafson, faculty sponsor.

GIRLS' CLUB INCREASED IN SIZE AND CONTINUED TO PROVIDE SERVICE AND ENJOYMENT THROUGH ITS BANQUETS, FUND DRIVES, AND PARTIES

GIRLS' CLUB CLASS MANAGERS

This year Girls' Club can look back with able pride on its many accomplishments and successes. The year's events provided fun and frolic for all New Trier girls beginning with the annual Freshman-Senior Party, which introduced freshman girls to New Trier. The next excitement was provided in Friendly Week and the culminating Friendly Banquet.

Girls' Club projects deserve special mention. The magazine drive was the most lucrative ever held and brought in more than $35,000, which yielded rich profits for the Girls' Club Scholarship fund. Girls also sold refreshments at all home football games to earn still more for the scholarship fund. The bi-annual clothing drive jointly sponsored by Girls' Club and Tri-Ship topped its original goal of 1,960 tons by 2.4 tons. This year, in March, Girls' Club presented a mother-daughter banquet with entertainment provided by a professional fashion show by Marshall Field's, and by mother-daughter acts. This event was a huge success and will be long remembered by those who attended it. Another drive sponsored by both Girls' Club and Tri-Ship was able to more than reach its goal: the United Fund Drive, held from March 21-28 surpassed its goal of $4,000 to collect an all time high of $4,658.48. The year was completed with the annual spring luncheon and fashion show, with New Trier girls as models, held on May 14.

The addition of four sophomore assistants and the new Information Corps were changes which proved to be for the better. The continued and devoted guidance of the two sponsors, Miss Jean Kixmiller and Miss Joan Wagner, served to make the Girls' Club projects and parties successful.

Girls' Club again fulfilled its purpose this year—to provide fun and enjoyment for all New Trier Girls.

MEMBERS OF TRI-SHIP SUCCEMBED TO THE ETERNAL DISTRACTION YET ACCOMPLISHED THE DUTIES AND GOALS OF THE ALL-SCHOOL BOYS' ORGANIZATION

Let's face the facts. Although it would appear to an outsider on his first trip to New Trier that the members of Tri-Ship spent the greater percentage of their time flirting with the occupants of the adjoining Girls' Club office, they did accomplish a great deal of work on the side, if only because a fairly solid wall separated the two offices. Actually, Tri-Ship, _____, accomplished a great deal. The Club hustled 21 tons of bundles in the biennial clothing drive, as well as $4,658.48 for the United Fund. Incidentally, both efforts were made in conjunction with Girls Club. On its own, Tri-Ship organized five dances, directed traffic on street corners, in the auditorium, and in the halls, _____ and still found time to listen to Mr. Gerald A. Newman, Consul-General of Canada at its father-son banquet.

Responsibility for the coordination of Tri-Ships many activities fell on the shoulders of President Don Haider. Assisting him in the running of the club were Vice President, Dick Gruschke, Secretary, Bob Fitzgerald, and Treasurer, Wendy Carpenter. Completing the list of Tri ship's elected officers were Bill Henderson, junior class chairman, and Gordy Adams, sophomore class chairman.

The actual performance of Tri-Ship's various tasks and services was divided among numerous committees of the club. Responsibility for running the system of door guards, and coordinating the student employment system fell to John Kelley as head of the Tri-ship service committee. The usher corps, directed by Tom Frickson, provided ushers for New Trier's many productions, including Lagmappe and this year's opera, "Lady in the Dark."

Handling public relations for the club was Bob Brinkerhoff. The Traffic squad was under the leadership of Bill McGuire. This organization handled traffic at each of the year's events, as well as on school days.

To Chuck Powell, as head of Tri-Ship's clubroom-charities committee, can be given a good part of the credit for the success of this year's charity drives.

Tri-Ship's five annual dances were organized by Tom Sawyer, head of the dance committee. He was responsible for the planning and running of each of the parties.

Gerry Wagner, as head of the ticket committee, was responsible for the ticket sales for all Tri-Ship sponsored activities, including the dances and Lagmappe. The dinner committee, headed by Dick Wolf, handled all arrangements for Tri-Ships two largest annual banquets, the football banquet and the father-son banquet, as well as providing refreshments at each of the club's dances and parties.

A group just recently created, the arrangements committee, under Chuck Barnhill had the responsibility for handling all the extra odd jobs which came up during the year. Two such activities were career night and homecoming ceremonies.

Finally, the "N" Club, composed of all New Trier's varsity and J.V. letter men, assisted the school by acting as ushers at each of the year's athletic events. President Ken Pettigrew controlled club activities.

In addition to these students, several members of the faculty helped coordinate and run Tri-Ship's activities. Mr. Lightner was general sponsor and supervisor. Assisting him were Mr. Clark, sponsor of the dance committee, Mr. Esarey, of traffic squad, Mr. James, of usher corps, Mr. Jensen, of the service committee, and Mr. Frantzen, of N Club.

"Number, Please!"

This year's Lagniappe, entitled "Number Please", attained a new high in entertainment. The virtual elimination of a plot or theme made it possible to concentrate all work and effect toward using the available material in the most effective manner.

Variety was the byword of Lagniappe 1960. Much time was spent in cultivating new and original ideas, such as a Gilbert and Sullivan-type operetta set at Cape Canaveral, with a blasting rocket. Best remembered will probably be George "Dr. Cutting" McDonough's lake's skin beaters, Doughty, Gordon, and Menzel.

Outstanding in the show was the music, especially the orchestra led by Ray Rusnak. The chorus was under Mike Verne, dance under Andy Adler, and acting under Alan Directors Sue Settert and Bob Moreen, together with many others, did everything within their power to produce the show. The end result was one of the best Lagniappes ever, an entertaining show for the audience, and an enjoyable and educational experience for the members of the show.

SEMI- CURRICULAR ACTIVITIES

R.U.R. - Pygmalion - Antigone

SCIENCE FICTION AND NEW TRIER'S FIRST GREEK TRAGEDY WERE NOT THE ONLY NOVEL OFFERINGS OF THE DRAMA CLUB. THE READING HOUR WAS SOMETHING NEW, TOO.

The New Trier Drama Department was remarkably active this year, serving the drama students and the school and community at large.

The students enrolled in the various drama classes showed examples of the year's work in a spring program.

Many of the students also were active in the extra-curricular Drama Club, which was led by Peter Grossman, president; Lynn Lebin, vice president; Leslie Aisner, secretary; and James Davis, treasurer. The Drama Club and several stray members of the department went to see a New Trier graduate, Ralph Bellamy in "Sunrise at Campobello."

Among the public activities sponsored by the Drama Department this year was something completely new—a series of reading hours in which members of the faculty and drama students read poetry, drama, and prose selections.

The fall play was "R.U.R.," a fantastic science fiction melodrama by Karel Capek. Mr. Ruerger directed it, and the leading roles were played by Peter Grossman as Harry Danun; Jan Solomon, Helena Glory; George McDougall, Dr. Gall; and David Odell, Dr. Hallemeier.

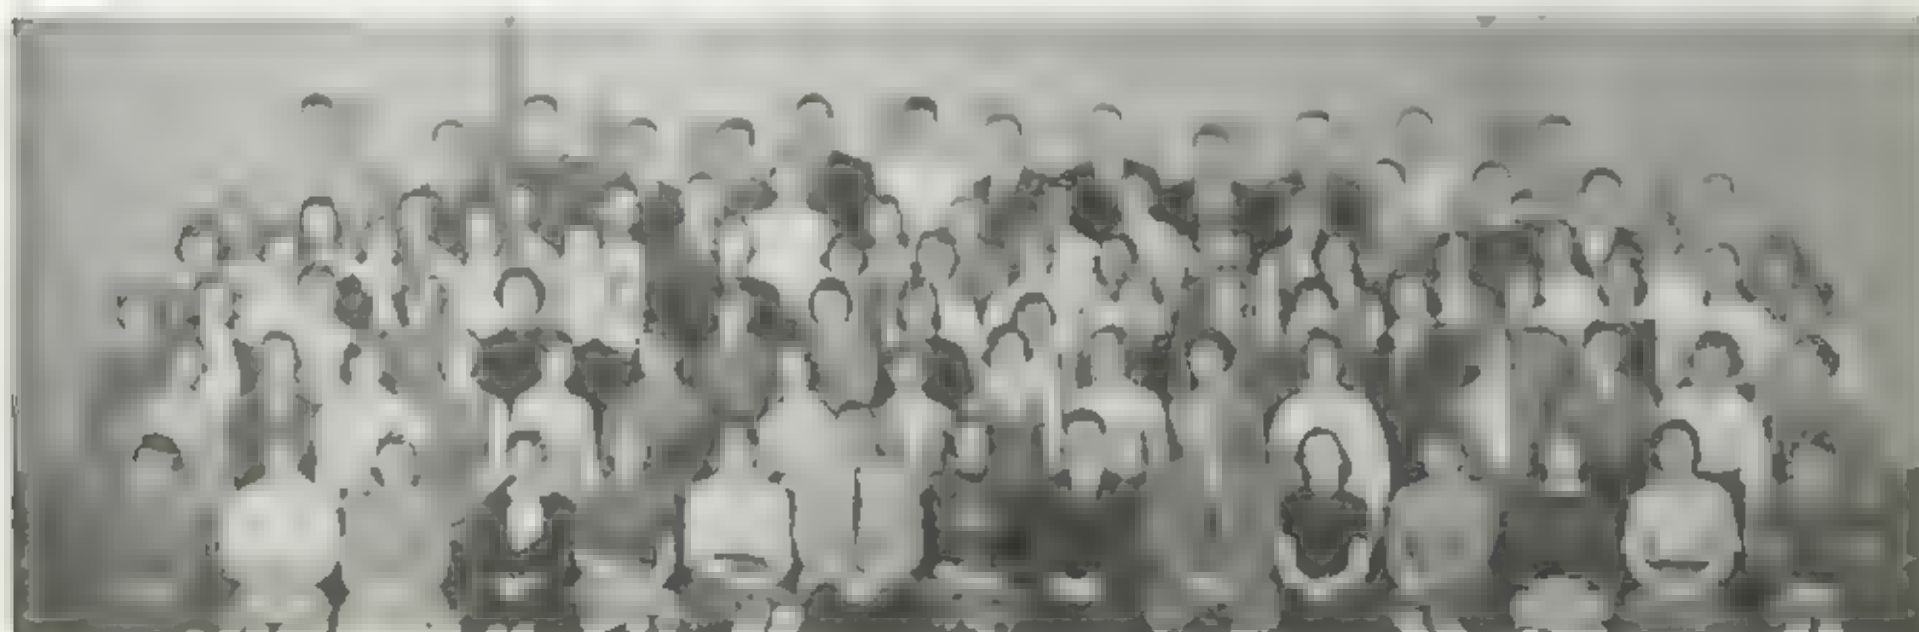

DRAMA CLUB BOARD

In December Miss Gahagan directed a production of Bernard Shaw's "Pygmalion," the famous story of the flower girl who is taken by professor Higgins and trained to speak and act like a lady. Diane Sherer and Dionne Laufman each took a turn as the flower girl. Fliza Doolittle, John Prescott played the phonetics expert, Henry Higgins, and James Brooks took the part of Col. Pickering.

The spring production, "Antigone," by Sophocles, was the first Greek tragedy ever produced at New Trier. Dr. Reisberg of the Music Department composed some original music for the play, which was directed by Mr. Rude. Susan Seifert appeared as Antigone, James Brooks as Creon, and Deborah Fleig as Ismene.

Music on a Grand Scale

THE ORATORIO "KING DAVID" AND THE MUSICAL PLAY "LADY IN THE DARK" WERE HIGHLIGHTS OF MUSICAL PRODUCTION. BUT FESTIVALS AND CONCERTS BROUGHT MUSIC TO NEW TRIER ALL YEAR.

CADET ORCHESTRA

Flute: Baer, Bowen, Nailberg, Sebring, Sergeant, Sydell. Oboe: Browder. Clarinet: Brown, Murtz. Tenor Saxophone: Dickinson. Baritone Saxophone: Shoresman. Cornet: Alexander, Pedersen, Phillips, Smith. Baritone Horn: Colmorgam. Sousaphone: Dickinson. Percussion: Ellis, Friedman, Lukash, Rubin.

The music department attempted different types of stage production and musical offerings this year.

One of the more important of these was the oratorio, "King David" by Handel. It was the first oratorio ever presented at New Trier. Professional performers joined the Opera Group in its presentation. They were Miss Barbara Vursell, soprano, Mrs. Eva C. Harper, contralto, and Mr. John L. Rude, tenor. Mr. and Mrs. Roland V. Rude took narrating. Organist was Miss Marionie Carlson.

The opera, "Lady in 'The Dark,'" was a technically difficult production which used flying scenery and revolving stages on either side of the stage. Most scenes were changed with the curtain up. Students alternated in leading roles on the evenings of March 30 through April 2. Bar chorus, dancers and orchestra took part in all four performances.

At the annual Christmas and Spring Festivals the combined choruses, consisting of approximately 850 students sang in the Leslie F. Gates gymnasium to afternoon and evening audiences. The orchestra and the band played at both festivals, and the evening Christmas Concert was broadcast several days later on Radio Station WNMV.

Some new names appeared in the music department. The junior girls' and junior boys' ensembles were re-named the Musettes and the Troubadours respectively. The Chamber Singers, a recently organized group, sang at several performances outside the school.

SENIOR ORCHESTRA

The Senior Orchestra, under the direction of Mr. [Name], has been organized for the purpose of providing a high level of musical instruction and performance for the senior students. The ensemble consists of students from the senior class, who are selected based on their musical ability and dedication. The orchestra is currently rehearsing for an upcoming concert, and the members are working hard to perfect their performance. The repertoire includes a variety of classical and contemporary pieces, and the students are looking forward to sharing their music with the school community.

CONCERT BAND

The Concert Band, led by Mr. [Name], is a large ensemble of students from various grade levels. The band is focused on developing the students' musical skills and fostering a love for music. They are currently preparing for a concert, and the members are practicing diligently. The band's repertoire is diverse, featuring a mix of traditional and modern music. The students are proud to represent the school and are excited to perform for their peers and the community.

HONOR BAND

The Honor Band, directed by Mr. [Name], is an elite group of students who have demonstrated exceptional musical talent. The band is dedicated to achieving the highest level of musical excellence and is currently rehearsing for a special performance. The members are highly motivated and work hard to perfect their craft. The band's repertoire includes challenging pieces that showcase their advanced skills. They are proud to be part of the school's musical tradition and are excited to perform at a high level.

At New Trier last year's season placed emphasis upon legislative procedure and individual speaking, competition as well as upon cooperative team effort in traditional debate. Increased interest in speech activities at New Trier has established a new state record of ninety-six NFL degrees for participation in speech activities.

DeBaris won three titles, Speaker of the House, President of the Senate, and Outstanding Representative in the two NFI Student Congresses. Legislative debate and parliamentary procedure resulted in the passage of several New Trier bills and resolutions.

zine, this year had a new sponsor, Mr.
Robert Pink. Though frequently having only one editor, this year Inklings was headed by two co-editors, Jessica Cohler and Millea Levin. The art editor was R.
Zeller, and this year for the first time Ink- lings had a publicity editor, Paul Regnier.
These four people comprised the largest editorial board in Inklings' history.

Inklings seeks to fulfill a threefold purpose: to provide an outlet for creative talent at New Trier, to give students an idea of the kind of work being done by their contemporaries, and to develop an interest in and appreciation for creative writing within the student body. Specifically, Inklings attempts to print various types of creative writing as far as this is compatible with maintaining a high standard of quality: humor, short stories, creative poetry. Emphasis on creativity was this year extended to the art work which consisted of original works not intended to illustrate particular pieces of writing or motivated by a theme. Inklings was also reproduced by a different process this year, and the format as well as the content proved new and interesting.

DIE SCHREIBEREI

"Die Schreiberei" ist eine Sammlung von kleinen Anekdoten, Geschichten und Gedichten die die Schüler der Deutschen Sprache schreiben. Diese Klassenzeitung entstand vor vierundzwanzig Jahren und seit der Zeit ist sie stets gewachsen. Heute wird "Die Schreiberei" nicht nur in New Trier ... sondern es wird auch zu anderen Schulen geschickt. Dieses Jahr war die Redaktion von Don Becker und Bern Hapke geleitet, und mit der Hilfe der Deutschlehrer und der Buergerchaft von Herrn ... Jensen war "Die Schreiberei" ein Erfolg.

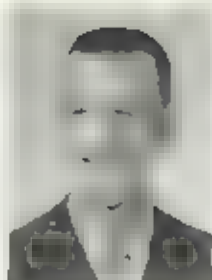

EDITOR'S NOTE

The editors regret that pictures of the publication staffs of Die Schreiberei and Praeco are not included on this page.

Time and technical problems prevented it. In most cases, membership of a publication staff comes from the language club membership (see page 78).

There've Been Some Changes Made

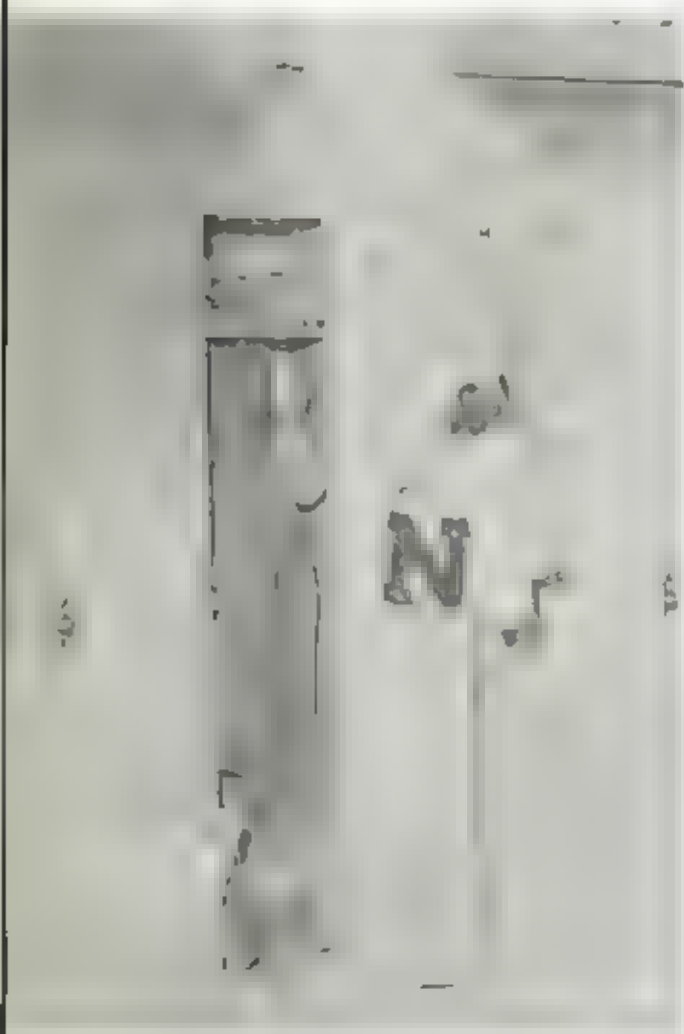

Nancy Lynch, editor; Dennis Potts, technical; Lois Hellmund, script; Karen Maas, publicity; and Mike Scott, business, composed this year's Playback staff. Along with their two new sponsors, Mr. Greenebaum and Mr. Magee, the staff worked diligently to produce this year's record.

The theme of the record was based upon a type of script committee meeting, for this type of theme was the only one which would be flexible enough to include everyone. The format for this year's record was something entirely different, for it contained humor, and did not follow in chronological order; the incidents which appeared on the record were not just official school incidents, and there were several narrators. Along with the changes, the record still contained familiar school voices and included something to appeal to the tastes of everyone. The cover and label were changed to make the record more interesting and inviting.

This year's publicity campaign was also new; the P.A. system was used instead of making the familiar advisor room talks. The campaign tried not to lose the traditional concepts, while at the same time bringing in ideas new and different.

The Playback committee wrote their own constitution, thus becoming an official organization. The staff redecorated their office, and after printing the walls seemed to find disfavor with the administration. This year, too, Playback has a window in their door. On a more serious note, the staff got new equipment with which to produce this year's new and different record.

Anyone entering the photography lab during the 1959-60 season was immediately impressed by the apparent lack of activity predominating the area. The omnipresent quiet was broken only by the not infrequent squabbles among the many habitués of the lab, which more than once was turned into a verbal battleground royal by the constituents of the various publications and the freelancers constantly roaming the premises.

But amid the chaos and apparent lack of productivity, a prodigious amount of work was done, involving both individual projects and work contributing to EXHIBES, The New Trier News, and school publicity. Somewhere between 3,000 and 4,000 pictures were turned out this year in the school's $12,000 darkroom.

Mr. Donald F. Smith, supervisor of the photo lab, estimated that in addition to the amount of film used, darkroom activities consumed approximately 600 gallons of chemicals, 8,000 sheets of paper, and 1,500 flashbulbs in the course of the year. And in using up these materials, the seemingly inert photography staff amassed a total of some 3,600 man-hours of work.

Among the members of the staff are those who worked primarily in support of some school activity. Peter Topaz, photography editor, Jim Hicks, and Bob Loettler are the backbone of the Editors' photography staff. One or more of them could have been seen posing groups in "candid" shots either during tenth period or after school. Head of the News photography staff was Sheldon Lytton, ably assisted by Joe Steinberg and Beardsley Ruml. Steinberg and Ralph Schatz, sophomores, were the co-heads of the publicity staff, responsible for producing pictures for such outside publications as the Hallister papers. Supporting the efforts of these photographers, was the darkroom staff, headed by Frank Hughes and Joe Mercer.

This is work!

NEW IDEAS CAME WITH NEW SURROUNDINGS AS "NEAR TRUE" JOURNALISTS PICKED UP TWO MORE AWARDS

Turning out some 25 issues this year, the student-run News staff put together several unique publications. In addition to two "Daily Northwestern makeup" issues extending from the bottom of one column to the top of the next, and organized under general topics, the News published an April Fool's issue which received hearty approval. Under the name "Near True News" this issue satirized many groups and individuals around "New True," offending very few.

The staff is composed of some twelve editors, an equal number of reporters (supporting staff in charge of mailing, cleaning up, and repairing.

Located under Study Hall 101, the News office opened late in the fall. It is Before this office was completed, the staff used the closed off southeastern section of the Student Lounge.

Averaging a closing time of 5:20 p.m. every day, the staff had occasion to keep the lounge open for a few hours during the first part of the year. With more experience, the time was somewhat reduced.

Sponsored by Mr. Boyle (alias the "pet" of the News staff), the News was awarded the All American Student Press Association and won the All American award.

Varying the page makeup from week to week, the news editors made special use of alliteration in headlines to achieve interest. They are responsible for the first and third

In the tradition of Bank-Son-of-Bank and Squeek, a new column called Qwert (the first five letters on the top line of every typewriter), ran for several months.

The "Lineup," a weekly series about leaders, was discontinued in the middle of the year, but came back again, containing not only information about the leaders, but quotations to give voice to student opinion.

Editorials covered such subjects as integration, referendum, idealism, and sophistication. The referendum editorials came in conjunction with the appearance of the referendum bill in Student Council.

Both intramural and interscholastic sports were covered. A new column, "Sports Desk," ran throughout the winter season. Of special note are the scouting reports and other future coverage techniques seldom employed in past years.

Early in May the whole News staff, including photographers, put on the fourth annual Gridiron Show at the Publications banquet. After the show editors from the journalism class were chosen for next year's staff. This "junior staff" put out an issue of the News themselves shortly after the banquet to try out their skill.

PICKING THE BEST FROM MOUNTAINS OF PICTURES AND PAPER WAS THE MAJOR CONCERN FROM SEPTEMBER TO MAY FOR A HURDLE-HAUNDED STAFF

Any lost soul wandering in the basement of the school building can find a place where the Echoes staff is hard at work. This is the Echoes office, the heart of the school yearbook. Throughout the year, this office is alive with activity; for Echoes work starts at the beginning of the school term and continues until summer vacation. Echoes is manned entirely by nearly competent students and an always-harried sponsor. The Echoes staff is responsible to the school for the yearbook, and they are the ones who do the copy work in the yearbook.

This year's band of happy warriors had the usual problems in turning out the book... Bernie Days, lost pictures, new organizations to photograph, and the like. But this year's staff was additionally taxed by the lack of an office for two months and by the change in the format of the book. Echoes has attempted to add more interest to the material through layout and the special section. Echoes added this section to portray the highlights of sixty years as a tribute to the school.

Echoes of 1960 owes a special "thank you" to Earl Rosner and Lee Goluberg for the stories in the special section.

"Work, you clods. It's later than you think."

"Just a sec, while I get a pencil," said the j.a., scampering around looking for something with which to take notes. Finally finding a dull crayon, he continued, "We've got quite a sports section in Echoes. Surely the old Echoes must have had some interesting tidbits on athletics."

"Good thinking, lad," said the little man, executing a double reverse somersault. "Though not quite equal to your coverage, the old Echoes' carried a few bits of information on sports at New Trier. Now, let me see. Hm, let me think, it was 1907, yes, yes, 1907. That year the Green and Gray baseball team was given recognition in ECHOES for winning six games while losing only two. It was a good season for the girls' basketball team didn't have such a good season, due to some difficulties in the completion of the new gym. But hear ye this in 1918 a story was reached when ECHOES announced the results of the girls' inter-class track meet. As you might expect they were nothing to write home about. For example, the high jump record was four feet. But say, son, is there much emphasis on school spirit nowadays?"

"Loads," the boy answered sarcastically.

"Well, even the 1910 ECHOES carried an article on school spirit, which was lacking at that time. The ECHOES of 1916 saw the creation of Student Council. Good grief! I almost forgot to tell you. The year before that, the state passed a law making compulsory four years of physical education."

"That must have been the grimmest story that ECHOES ever printed," moaned the boy.

"But it must have paid off," the old man added. "See use in 1918 New Trier won the state basketball tournament at Joliet." He rubbed his nose and snuffed. "And it went these first years. Well, have to be off."

"Wait, wait," exclaimed the j.a., "you've got so much more to tell me!"

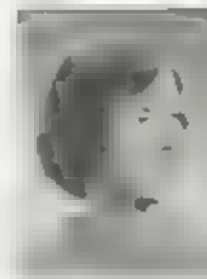

But already the little green man was climbing inside a typewriter. Just before he disappeared, he winked and chuckled, "Look it up in ECHOES."

Where Would We Be Without Them?

The Public Address Corps sponsored by Mr. Rocky is an extra-curricular organization. It is designed primarily to provide amplifiers for various large groups at New Trier. The duties of the corps have ranged from running modeling shows to climbing thirty-foot poles at football games. Although basically a service organization, the character of the corps inherently increases a member's technical competency.

The Service Club is made up of thirty girls who spend a portion of their time working in the nurse's office. This group is sponsored by Mrs. Savage, the school nurse and Mrs. Schoenenberger, head of the health department. The officers are Gale Gilman, president; Mary Taylor, vice-president; Bonnie Arieff, treasurer and corresponding secretary; Dorie Adler, publicity; and Carol Beringer, program chairman.

"Is So-and So at school today?" It would be hard to answer that if it weren't for the Attendance Bulletin Corps. It has the major and vital job of seeing to it that every teacher receives a copy of the list of absentees each day. They cover all classrooms and many offices throughout the school.

The New Trier Guard

Fifty boys and girls are the backbone of the New Trier swimming organization, the New Trier Guard. The members of this organization are chosen from 100 applicants and are given a thorough training program in life saving techniques. They subsequently put in approximately three to seven hours a week serving the community and gaining valuable experience. Under the leadership of Mr. Dave Robertson, swimming coach, and student heads, Pete Pettigrew and Chari Yost, the guard helps to conduct New Trier's effective swimming program.

Every Saturday morning, they provide weekly instruction for grammar school students; approximately 2500 children receive aid in one year. They also safeguard the lives of those who use the pool during the general swims every Wednesday evening and at the frequent afternoon swimming sessions for New Trier boys. Without the help of the Guard, the school would not have the expanded swimming program of which all Trierites are proud.

For Those Scant Hours of Leisure

The New Trier student is presented with an immense number of extracurricular activities for using up any time which the school's rigorous program may leave him. Anyone who is sufficiently diligent to complete his studies and to have more than the minimum of time for eating and sleeping is able to choose from a list of activities which is sure to include at least one of his special interests.

A major part of this list of activities is composed of New Trier's many clubs. This club. This year the club supplemented its usual program with a visit to the inner workings of the Shedd Aquarium.

Newly chartered this year was Alpha Trieri. About ten students met regularly to share their knowledge of astronomy under the supervision of Mr. Dulin. The club members built a telescope to be mounted on the roof of the school for observation and photography of heavenly bodies. A trip to Yerkes Observatory was included in the club's program this year.

Students interested in other sciences have a variety of clubs to choose from. The Radio club, sponsored by Mr. Rokey, maintained five "ham" transmitters which the club members used in contacting other areas of the United States and foreign nations. In addition, students learned much about the theory and construction of the radio. The Rocket club, sponsored by Mr. Compton, involved itself with both the theoretical and practical aspects of amateur rocketry. The work of the club involved the perfecting of several small experimental rockets which were launched during the spring.

For the more mathematically minded student, three clubs were maintained. The freshmen had their own Math club, sponsored by Mr. Lill, while Miss Cornell headed the Math club for sophomores.

Juniors and seniors were combined into one club, the Bernoullians, designed to supplement the regular mathematics curriculum in the study of both theoretical and applied mathematics.

Four of the languages offered at New Trier have clubs to supplement the regular curriculum. The purpose of each is additional study of the language as well as a study of the culture and history of each nationality. The German club, under Mr. G. Jensen, in an effort to learn more about the German people, added a study of German songs, games, and food. Each year, the club publishes its own maga-

In addition, there are clubs representing the two other most popular languages offered at New Trier. The Latin club was sponsored by Miss Breidenbach, and put out a magazine called Præco. The Spanish club was sponsored by Miss Mair.

In a program of equal exchange, New Trier sent two students to foreign countries, and in return received two foreign students. Bill Johnson was sent to Sweden for six months, and Anne "Rie" Mooney spent two months in Germany. Linda McCarty went to New Zealand, and Walter Veering of Holland spent several months here. CPZ is a β -lactam antibiotic that is active against a wide range of Gram-positive and Gram-negative bacteria. It is used in the treatment of various infections, including pneumonia, urinary tract infections, and skin infections. The mechanism of action of CPZ involves inhibiting the synthesis of the bacterial cell wall, leading to cell lysis and death.

The school greenhouse was maintained by the members of the Botany club. The members of the club studied various species of the plant world under the guidance of Mr. Hoyt. In addition, each member did an individual project in botany during the year. Students preferring dogs to flowers were able to join the Dog club, sponsored by Mr. Wagner, meeting frequently during the year for dog-training sessions.

Collecting enthusiasts enjoyed the activities of the Stamp and Coin club, sponsored by Mr. Neuman. The regular meetings of the club involved discussion or lecture about various topics in the field of interest. Also, meetings usually involved an auction or trading session.

Several students under the supervision of Mr. Swoap met to discuss theory and the activities of the Aviation club including several field trips and a visit to Sky Harbor Airport.

Other clubs appealed to those who enjoyed outdoor sports. The Sailing club sponsored by Mr. Glaser, applied itself to a theoretical study of sailing as well as to enjoyment of the sport itself. In addition, there was a club for those students interested in skiing, sponsored by Mr. Larsen.

The Square Dance club, sponsored by Mrs. B. Johnson, provided an informal way of meeting new friends while learning and participating in, square dancing. In addition to its regular activities, the club held many special social events such as picnics and other outdoor activities.

About 20 students found the Psychology Club an outlet for their inner need for special activities. The activities of the club centered around discussion and informal speeches both by Mr. Brull, the club sponsor, and other members of the faculty as well as occasional guest speakers. The club's activities were highlighted by a visit to the Downey Veterans Affairs Mental Hospital.

The Lens club met bi-weekly, centering its activities around discussion and instruction in various photographic techniques under the auspices of Mr. Donald Smith. The club organized periodic showings of its members' work, and in addition held one photo contest in each quarter of the year.

A student interested in music in any form could choose from a wide variety of clubs. The Musicale club, sponsored by Miss Kidd, made a study of the sociological backgrounds for such music. Probably the largest clubs in the school were the Junior

Senior Music clubs. Any student playing an instrument or possessing singing ability was able to join one of these two clubs, depending upon his age and ability. Regular meetings of each club were held at which the students themselves performed and criticized each other. The clubs operated on the theory that by playing before other students and also by criticism one increases one's musical ability. Each student was required to perform at least once during the year. The Junior Music club was sponsored by Mrs. Bradburn, the Senior Music club by Mrs. Ream.

Two clubs were offered for students interested in a creative art. The Model and Hobby club, sponsored by Mr. Koser, provided an outside activity for those with such interests as flying model airplanes and constructing scale model railroads. The Art League, sponsored by Mr. Stenvall, continued its activities for students with artistic talents and interests.

During the 1959-1960 school year, the Girls' Athletic Association had an extremely successful sports program with active participation in all seasons. The board, led by President Stephanie Aden, Vice President Barbara Erhardt, Treasurer Cristina Swanson, and Secretary Shirley Duke, co-ordinated all the GAA events from the opening fresh in demonstration to the final spring banquet on June 2 at which the new board was announced.

Some of the major changes in GAA included a slightly revised constitution, a new booklet, and the introduction of a new board position, head of projects, which was filled by Dianne Duke. Two highlights of the year were the GAA conference playday on January 16 in which seven schools participated, and an eighth grade playday to introduce GAA to representatives from the local grade schools.

These and many other events in GAA were supervised by the girls' physical education department faculty. Miss Iris Boulton is head of the department, and Miss Suzanne Keating sponsors GAA. The intramural board was advised by Mrs. Ann Stevens, who helped Jean Gutsche, head of intramurals, in co-ordinating the after school sports program. Other members of the girls' physical education faculty are Miss Mary Appelhof, Miss Carolyn Cress, Miss Vivian Frazier, Mrs. Margaret Hoopes, Mrs. Barbara Johnson, Miss Jo-

Johnson, Miss Betty King, Miss Dorothy Niemi, Miss Janice McConnell, Miss Constance Ramsey, Miss Nancy Sorenson and Mrs. Lenore Sutton.

Membership week, co-ordinated by Holly Hicks, head of membership and Dale Ware, head of social, was a fun-filled experience for over 400 girls who became GAA members. A gym jam, skit group meetings, and a sumptuous banquet with candle-lighting ceremony were part of the week's festivities.

In the winter award assembly over 200 girls received recognition for participation in GAA activities. There were 33 girls who received 300-point awards, seven earned 700 point awards, and the 1,000-point award went to four GAA members. A freshman, Marcia Merrick, won the 300-point award, and a sophomore, Judith Stalnaker, won her 1,000 point award. Forty-seven girls received numerals for being on a first class team, and 35 girls earned chevrons for second class team performances. A new custom was established of giving recognition to girls who had already received class team awards and deserved them again. Participation awards to individual adviser rooms went to senior Morris, junior Browne, sophomore Raffetto, and freshman Bredehorn.

"Chicago Swinphony," the water ballet held on April 30, was the major event in GAA this year. Deborah Barrett, head of

MID-SEASON

Basketball was enjoyed by many enthusiastic girls who participated in the tournaments. Marno Milne was head of the sport with the help of Carolyn Collins, Ann White, Priscilla Wilson, and Mary Ellen Polito. The winners of the class team tournament were the sophomores.

Gymnastics and apparatus under Alice Maynard were also offered. The parallel bars, the horse, and other equipment were used by the participants. Recreational swimming and riding were other active sports this season. Dance was held for beginner, intermediate, and advanced members.

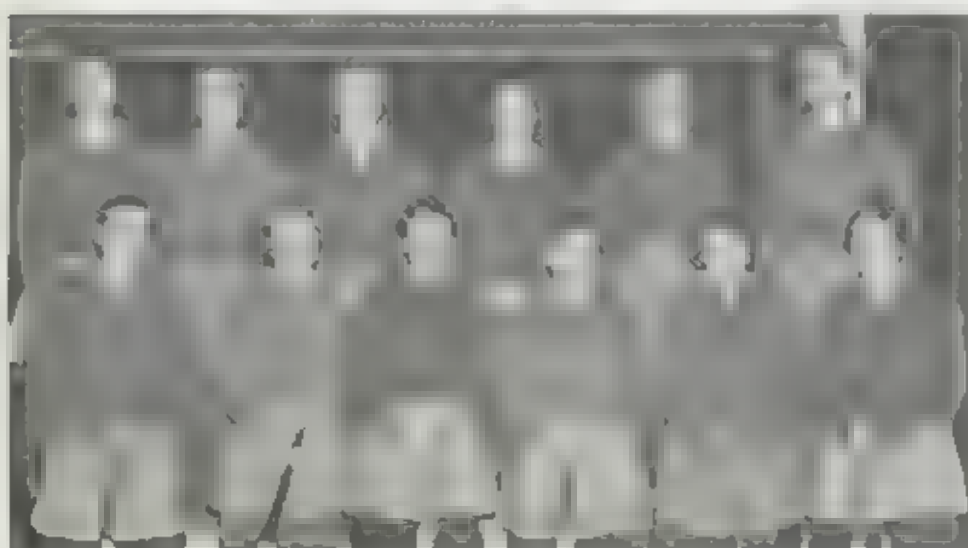

Volleyball was extremely popular during the winter season. This sport, headed by Susan Vinnedge and her managers, Elizabeth Lewis, Sigrid Wohlrab, Josephine S. and Barbara Luergens, was played with the new rules which made the game more exciting. Synchronized swim-ting and water ballet practice also were vital this season. The swimming managers were Joanna Wenck, Judith Gilbert, Jean Nielson, and Winetred Unger. Fencing for juniors and seniors under Stephanie Struggles and ice skating under Starr Brandt were other unique individual sports.

SPRING

During the spring season, softball, tennis, and archery were the main sports offered. Sarah Welch headed softball with her managers, Helen Hartray, Margaret Herz and Roberta Halliday. The head of archery was Carol Schramm. Tennis was in the form of instruction rather than tournament games. Lacrosse, an unusual sport, was led by Margaret O'Brien and her managers, Lee Ann Chrisman and Nancy Kahn. Spring riding also offered girls a chance to participate in GAA activities. During all seasons, the officials and timers and scorers under Katherine Karlake and Judith Stalnaker helped greatly in the after-school sports program.

Was It a Moral Victory?

A GOOD LINE, SHARP INDIVIDUAL PLAY, AND FOUR GOOD WINS DON'T SPELL A DISASTROUS SEASON

Better hurry boys!

Irresistible force vs. immovable object.

New Trier, suffering from injuries and tumbleitis, wound up its season with a mediocre 4-4 over-all record, 3-4 in the Suburban League. The fourth place finish of the Indians was especially disappointing in light of their pre-season exhibition game defeat of West Suburban League power Hinsdale by an overwhelming 35-0 score. In this game, fullbacks Chuck Mercen and Joel Kleinfeld tallied 2 touchdowns apiece to lead the scoring. The N.T. defense was unyielding as they held Hinsdale scoreless.

The following Saturday the Green Wave, missing Kleinfeld's explosive power as he suffered an injury and was unable to play, and hampered by fumbles at crucial moments, lost to a surprisingly strong and inspired Highland Park squad, 15-13. The next weekend Morton, held scoreless through most of the game, scored on a punt return to hand N.T. its second heartbreaking loss in a row, 7-6. The Indians travelled to Evanston the following week where they received their worst loss of the season, a 20-0 defeat. The Evanston backs demonstrated tremendous speed and maneuverability as they slid away from New Trier tacklers time after time. The following weekend N.T. came back to stun Waukegan 14-6, in the Green Wave's first S.L. victory of the season. Juniors John Ade, Paul Stonich, and Les Overlock all turned in excellent performances on offense, and the N.T. defense proved practically immoveable. On the next Saturday the Indians waded through the mud to win a thriller from a tough Niles team, 13-7.

In its next action N.T. overwhelmed the defending Suburban League champions Proviso East, 25-6, to even up its S.L. record with 3 wins and 3 losses. In this game New Trier once again came alive as a team and showed the ability which had not been fully displayed since the opening victory over Hinsdale. The defense was strong, and, despite the mud, the Indian backs showed drive, speed, and deception. Jim Rome, senior quarterback, did a fine job of calling plays, as well as intercepting a Proviso pass. Mercem was the workhorse in this game as he tallied twice and piled up terrific yardage. In the final game of the season New Trier, after losing through most of the game, lost to Oak Park by a score of 17-14. Fullback Mercem once again did much of the running aided by Kleinfeld's power up the middle.

Injuries to key players, including first string center Harley Gaber and co-captain Don Hauler, hurt N.T.'s chances this year.

Nevertheless, several players turned in outstanding performances throughout the season. On offense, Mercem showed great improvement toward the end of the year and Wally Wilkey did an excellent job in the latter game. Defensively, Gaber and Jack Hebrink led one of the toughest lines in the S.L. With many returning junior lettermen, including next year's co-captains, Gaber and Jack Hebrink New Trier is looking to regain its status as a Suburban League football power.

J. V.'s First in Suburban League

The New Trier Junior Varsity football squad, under the able coaching of Pete Frantzen and his staff, once again was N.T.'s only football championship-winning team this year. Outstanding play by junior tailback Bill Henderson helped the Indians achieve their fine 6 win, 1 lost record, but it was a team effort that gained the championship.

A well balanced team, both offensively and defensively, was highlighted by fine individual performances by various players throughout the season. In their first game, the J.V.'ers triumphed over Glenbrook by a score of 20-0. This victory was followed by a 19-14 whipping of Morton, the 30th straight victory for New Trier Junior Varsity football teams. Next, the J.V.'s blanked Wilkegan 44-0 the offense and defense functioning, with equal effectiveness in this smashing win. Evanston forfeited to the Trier-ies; but in their next game the J.V.'s lost an 18-6 thriller to a mixed varsity-J.V. squad from Proviso East. After another forfeit victory, this time over Niles, N.T. defeated Oak Park 14-7 in the season's finale.

Several J.V. players, including Junior Bill Henderson, were moved up to the varsity for the last several games of the season. Nevertheless, the fine attitudes of the players, the great team spirit, and the coaching of Pete Frantzen came through to wind up another successful season for the Junior Varsity football squad.

Sophomore Football

The sophomore football squad fought hard against larger opponents throughout the season and managed to give a good account of themselves in the majority of their games. In the opening exhibition game, the Ponies found themselves outplayed as they suffered a 33-7 defeat at the hands of Hinsdale. The Trier-ites bounced back in their first S.L. game to overcome Highland Park 6-0. In both of these games, as in most of the Sophomore games this year, fullback Dick Willhite was the workhorse, doing excellent running as he led the Pony offense.

After losses to Morton and Evanston the Ponies evened up their league record by smashing Waukegan 21-0. The Trier-ites tied Proviso East 20-20, and then went on to defeat Niles and Oak Park in the last two games, giving the sophomores a 4-2-1 record in S.L. competition. Sophomore Coach Chuck Lauer felt that his team showed steady improvement as the season progressed and gave the squad much credit for the effort it showed.

The Biggest Year in the Long Run

This year, the cross-country team coached by Mr. Ben Almaguer, won its first state championship.

Completing suburban league competition without defeat, the barriers won the Suburban League meet twenty-six points ahead of the runner-up, Evanston. After a victory in the district meet, the team rounded out an undefeated season by capturing the state meet early in November. In the one race of the meet, a distance of 1.9 miles, seven New Trier men ran against a field of 169 athletes representing more than twenty schools. Of the seven five finished in the top twenty percent of the runners.

Weymouth Kirkland took first place in the state with a time of 9:20.5 for the distance, six seconds over the state record. Dave Hatcher placed eleventh in the 100, Tibby Carpenter fourteenth, Bill Ohle nineteenth, and Wendell Carpenter, team captain, placed twenty-second.

This season was easily the most successful that the team has had in the six-year history of New Trier's participation in interscholastic cross-country and Coach Almaquer considered this year's team to be the best yet produced by New Trier.

Squad Short—Tall Sport

THE TEAM LOST GAMES BY A HEAD

The New Trier Varsity basketball team placed sixth in the Suburban League with a three won and 11 lost record. The overall record was 11 wins and 20 losses. One major reason for the team's lack of success was the Indians' lack of height. The team had only one player in the starting line-up who was 6' 2" tall. He was Dick Gutschke, a Suburban League All-Star. Gutschke was a standout all season, scoring 100 points in league play and placing second in rebounding in the S.L. Due to the lack of height of Gutschke and the lack of height of the team, Tom Nisbet and Al Meyer, the team was able to show marked improvement toward the end.

The Indians started the season by losing a heartbreaker to Maine 54-52 in a double overtime. The B ballers split the next four games, winning over Niles and Oak Park and dropping games to Morton and Kankakee. The rest of the season was lackluster for the Indians, who won only one other game, 61-59 over Niles, and lost to North Chicago 55-51. In the state tournament the Indians lost 62-59 over Highland Park, only to be eliminated in the next game dropping a 70-57 thriller to Evanston.

Hurrah for our side!

But They Beat Evanston

With a two win and nine lost season the Junior Varsity basketball team placed eighth in the Suburban League. As with the varsity, the major handicap of the J.V. team was lack of height.

The squad started the season by losing close one 56-54. After losses to Niles Oak Park, and Highland Park, the team lost to Evanston 42-38. The last game was a loss to Evanston 48-41. The season was black for the team as they lost their last five in a row.

Junior Varsity letters were awarded to Larry Atkins, Dave Crow, Chester C. Dave Maytnier, Stan Miller, "Restless" Les Overlock, Don Pratt and Billy Henderson. A Junior Varsity certificate was given to Jim Congdon. This year the team was coached by Mr. Rex Lewis.

Up-sy daisy.

Frosh Show Up Best in 1960

The Freshman A basketball team finished second best of all New Trier's B ball teams this year, finishing fourth in the Suburban League. The team accomplished this with a 7 won and 4 lost winning record. During the season the team recorded wins over Morton, Niles, Oak Park twice, Highland Park, Waukegan, and Evanston. The Freshman A team was under the able guidance of Coach Ray Etnyre.

New Trier finally won a championship in basketball! The Freshman B squad under the exceptionally able guidance of Mr. Melvin Esarey won the S.L. crown. This tremendous feat was achieved with a 10 won, 1 lost, record. Their lone defeat was at the hands of Proviso East, 35-26. As proof of their championship abilities the team later defeated this same Proviso East squad, 48-21.

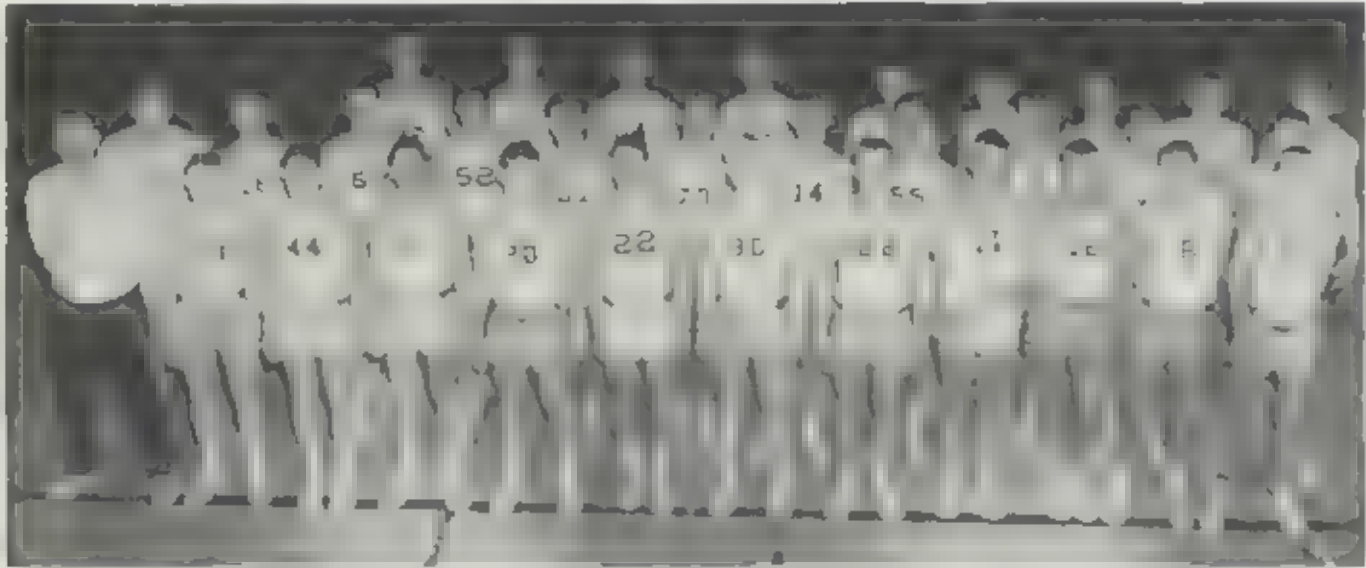

The sophomore basketball team played to a 4 won, 10 lost record to place eighth in the Suburban League. The team's overall season record was six wins and eleven losses.

The sophomores started out the season very well, winning five of the first seven games they played. These games included wins over Maine, Kankakee, Niles, Highland Park, and North Chicago. Unfortunately, the team only won one other game in a 51-49 defeat of Niles, in the remainder of the season.

A Record-Shattering Year

1960 SAW VARSITY SWIMMERS SET NEW NT MARKS, TUMBLE TWO STATE RECORDS, AND BEAT THE RIVALS TO THE SOUTH FOR THE SUBURBAN LEAGUE CHAMPIONSHIP

The varsity swimming team this year was the fastest ever produced at New Trier; every varsity record was broken. State records were set in the 50-yard free style by Chip Laird and in the 100-yard butterfly by Fred Schmidt. A national record was made by the Medley Relay team consisting of Roger Goettsche, Fred Schmidt, Chip Laird, and Bill Chadsey.

New Trier records were set by Dave Lyons in the 100, 200, and 400-yard freestyle, by Roger Goettsche in the 100-yard backstroke, by Dale Kiefer in the 220-yard individual medley, by Bill Chadsey in the 100-yard breaststroke, and by the 200-yard relay team composed of Van Kennan, Pete Pettigrew, Bob Lavin, and Chip Laird.

Under the capable hands of the coaches Dave Robertson, Ray Essick, and Verne Condon, and headed by the co-captains, Pete Pettigrew, Bill Chadsey, and Ron Kovas, the swimming team brought to New Trier the Suburban League Championship. They won the championship over a very strong Evanston team by a score of 93 to 89. The team also won all of the dual meets except one to Evanston, which they redeemed by beating Evanston in the Rockford East Relays by a score of 84 to 70.

At the Indian Relays, the New Trier swimmers placed second following Evanston by the small margin of 2½ points, and they placed second following Evanston in the state meet. Topping off the season was the phenomenal showing of the New Trier swimming team by placing fifth in the National A. A. U. swimming team meet held at New Haven, Connecticut. Roger Goettsche took two fourth places in the 100-yard backstroke in 56.2, and in the 220-yard backstroke in 2:18.2. He also teamed up with Bill Chadsey, Fred Schmidt, and Dave Lyons to take fifth place in the 400-yard medley in 3:52.6.

Grapplers Tie For First In S.L.

THREE WRESTLERS LED THE TEAM TO A
6-1 RECORD IN LEAGUE COMPETITION

The varsity grapplers this year brought home a tie for the Suburban League crown with a 6 won, 1 lost league record. The wrestlers' overall season record was 10-3.

The wrestlers, Ed Rubel at 120 lbs., Luke Hiken, 127 lbs., and Sheldon "Chubby" Hershinow, were undefeated in most of their meets. Hiken did not lose a match until the semi-finals of the state meet, while Rubel and Hershinow did not lost a match until the 13th meet of the season, against Morton. Hershinow beat the Waukegan wrestler who went on to take first place in the state at 145 lbs. Rubel defeated Norm Parker of Highland Park to capture first place in the district meet, but was eliminated in the semi-finals of the sectional tournament, while Parker advanced to take second in the state at 120 lbs. Hiken, in the roughest weight class in the state, captured fourth in the state meet, while Junior Bob Prentiss, at 95 lbs., went on to take second place in the state.

After losing a close meet with Reavis, the grapplers smashed Lake Forest and North Chicago. In its first N.S.L. meet the squad defeated tough teams from Niles and Oak Park. Highland Park was an easy victory for N.T. as was last year's state champion team, Thornton. Proviso East and Oak Lawn fell to New Trier as the grapplers

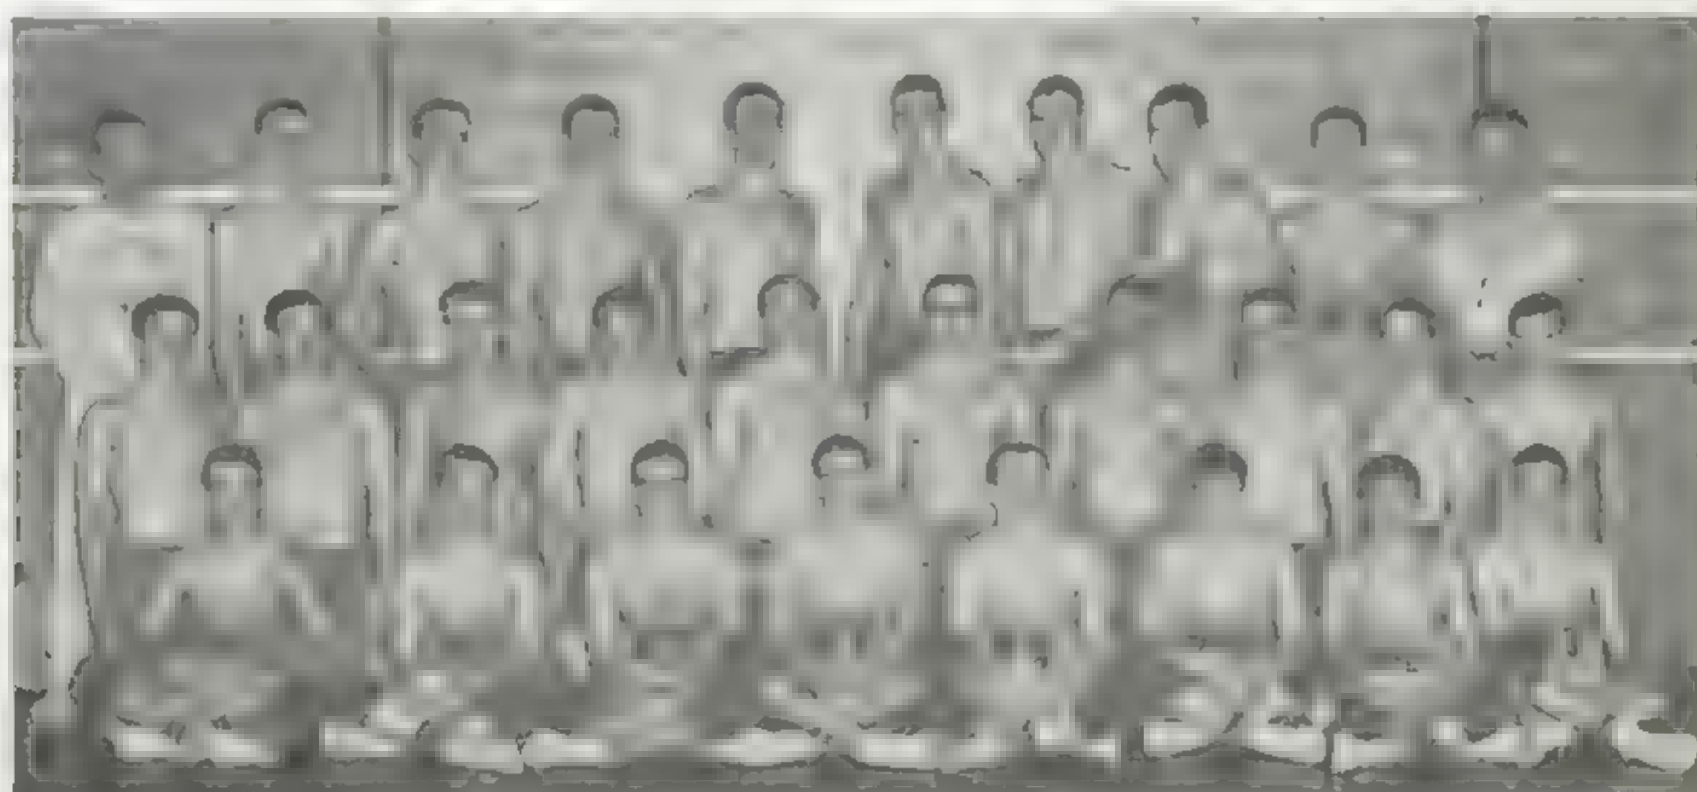

The Evanston meet was one of the most exciting of the year, with New Trier coming out on top. Victories were recorded by Prentiss, Rubel, Hiken, Les Lawrence, Hershinow, Don Glanz and Sandy Hodge. Somewhat of a let-down came as the Indians lost a non-S.L. meet to Glenbrook 20-19. Morton handed New Trier its only Suburban League loss on the following weekend as several close matches decided the meet in Morton's favor. The grapplers came back, however, and defeated tough Waukegan in a real thriller to tie Morton for the championship.

A Break-Even Season

The sophomore wrestling team had a fair season, breaking even in dual meets. Under their new coach, Bill Turner, the boys learned much in wrestling, fundamentals and sportsmanship. Several boys in particular turned in outstanding performances throughout the year. Don Behm, Tim Ade and Jim Haugsness especially look to be varsity prospects next year. Coach Turner felt that lack of experience was the major handicap to the squad, while willingness to try and ability to learn was the asset that most helped the team during the season. With several experienced freshmen to help, Mr. Turner feels that next year's squad will have a good chance to win many more meets.

Successful Season For the Gymnasts

The gymnastic team took advantage of its balance and depth to have a successful season this year, winning 7 while losing 4. The highlights of the season were a fourth place in the 30-school Northern Invitational Tournament, and a sixth place in the state meet. In the Northern Invitational John Sakol, Tom Mann, Bob Spertus, Bob Beguelin, Don Bradbury, and Len Isaacs placed.

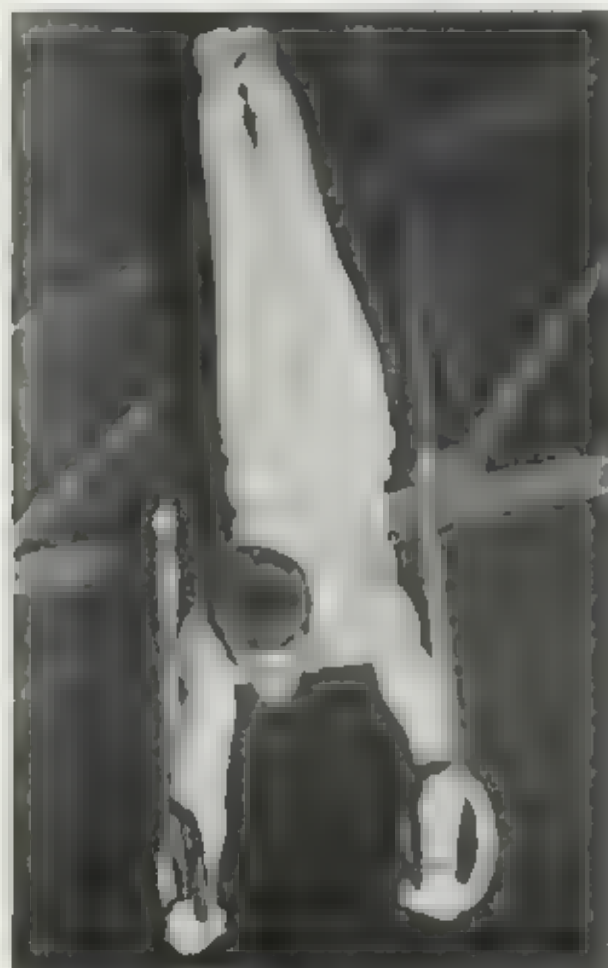

At the state meet, Bob Spertus placed first in the high bar, John Sakol was fifth on the side horse, Bob Beguelin placed tenth on the high bar, Jim Graf placed seventh on the trampoline, and Len Isaacs placed tenth in the all-around.

At the award banquet, Paul Levy and Don Bradbury, this year's captains, yielded their offices to Barry Hutchinson and Bob Beguelin. Paul Levy was awarded the Thatcher Memorial Trophy for his leadership and ability.

Tennis Team A Terror

The varsity tennis team, led by Coaches Hugh Davis and Jerry Morgan, has made a very impressive record this year. With the season more than half over at press time, the tennis team had won 11 of its 12 dual meets. The netmen started off the season by taking a 5-0 win over Arlington Heights. The next match was with the strong state champions, Hinsdale. New Trier won this match by a score of 3-2, with Wally Eiseman putting up an amazing fight against the state singles champion, Marty Riessen. The tennis team also beat the strong Hinsdale team later in the season by the same score.

The netmen continued to win after that, defeating two very strong teams, Oak Park and Hill and Park, both by scores of 4-1. New Trier's only defeat came at the hands of Evanston, who with an exceptionally fine team won 5-0. Other scores were: N.T. 5, Waukegan 0; N.T. 5, Morton 0; N.T. 4, Lake Forest 1; N.T. 3, Maine 2; N.T. 5, Arlington Heights 0, and N.T. 5, Proviso 0.

At the district, which was held at Evanston this year, the team placed second with 7 points to Evanston, but did not qualify any one for the state meet.

The tennis team this year was led by the seniors Wally Eiseman, Ron Kovas, Captain Gerry Wagner and Tom Silfen, and by the leading juniors Bill Rice and Chuck Sweet. Bill Ewen, a sophomore, also helped out the team. The sophomore team this year, under the direction of Coaches Kahler and Tenney, also did very well winning all of its dual meets except one. On account of the large number of excellent juniors and sophomores who will be playing next year, New Trier can expect the varsity tennis team to be one of the best in the state.

Trackmen Run Off With Trophies

With victories in the Suburban League indoor track meet at Oak Park and in the Oak Park Relays, the New Trier varsity track team sped to the best indoor track season they have had in many years. Even Bloom Township High School, last year's defending state champions, fell at the heels of the New Trier clundermen. One of the major reasons for N-T's victories was the tremendous depth displayed in all the distance running events, although the meets could not have been won without the reliable help of the boys in field events and sprints.

Contrary to past years the N.T. trackmen this year managed to maintain a record that included many more wins than losses. Smaller meets with Maine and Oak Park early in the season resulted in a poor showing for New Trier, but wins over Morton, Proviso East, Waukegan, Evanston, and later Oak Park certainly gave the team a chance to show some depth that has been rare for N.T. teams in the past.

New Trier displayed its tremendous team strength against the seven other Suburban League schools at the indoor S.L. meet. By taking six first places, two second places, and three thirds, N.T. overcame its nearest opponent Proviso East by the score of 50½ to 39½. The first place winners were: Charles Mercem, shot put, Weymouth Kirkland, mile run, Wendell Carpenter, 440-yard dash, Richard Gritschke, pole vault, David Hatcher, 880-yard run, and the 8-lap relay team, Tibbs Carpenter, Ed Martin, John Christoffersen, and W. Carpenter. Credit should also be given to the 4-lap relay team, Richard Mandel, Martin, John Heidbrink and Herbert Timm, as well as sprinter George Pumphrey, hurdler Ted Claue, pole vaulter William Rapp, soph high jumper Dick Willbrite and miler William Ohl.

In the Evanston Relays, one of the most exciting school races ever witnessed by Coach Ben Almaguer (and several hundred thrilled spectators) was run. Although the two-mile relay team of Tibbs Carpenter, Ohl, W. Carpenter, and beat the existing record set by last year's N.T. team, the mile relay team of Ed Martin, John Christoffersen, and the two Carpenters staged such a great battle against a strong Bloom team that not a single person in the crowd was sitting down. Elzie Higgenbottom (last year's 440-yard state champion) outstepped Wendy Carpenter in the last few yards of the race to win for Bloom. New Trier lost the meet to Bloom by only 6½ points.

The winners of the Oak Park Relays gave the Trierites unquestioned supremacy over all the teams in the state of Illinois, beating runner-up Bloom by a score of 46 to 38. Although the 16-lap relay team and pole vaulter Gritschke were the only first place winners for N-T, the Indian squad managed enough second and third places in the other events to capture the meet.

The tremendous victory at the O.P. Relays was certainly a most fitting climax to a great indoor track season, and seemed a bright omen for the track team's chances in the state meet.

... And Then Some More

Varsity Track Coach Ben Almagueer led an outstanding team to another district track crown. Rolling up an impressive 60½ points to Highland Park's 25 points. 14 individual endermen and two relay teams placed in the meet.

The New Trier boys who helped to pile up points in the district meet were as follows: Sidney Marland, first in the broad jump; Ted Claire, second in the half mile; Roy Zinkil second in the low hurdles; Weymouth Kirkland, first in the mile; Herbert Timm, second in the 220 yard dash; and Richard Gritschke, first in the pole vault. Although results were not available at press time, it was expected that a strong Bloomington High School team would once again offer New Trier the most competition in the state meet.

At the first meet of the outdoor season, a triangular meet with Evanston and Highland Park, N.T. walked off with the crown. On a rain-soaked track in 40 degree weather, accompanied by a cold wind, the Indian "mud-men" proved their ability at splashing through stretches of three inch-deep mud by beating all other teams by a great margin. Bloom fell a distant sixth in that meet while New Trier individuals and relay teams took five firsts and placed high in all other events. Once again under poor running conditions, New Trier dominated all the other teams present at the Mooseheart Relays on May.

The frosh-soph track team, headed by a new coach, Mr. Arthur Omohundro fared poorly this year, although such sophomores as Richard Barnicke and Richard Willhite were excellent varsity prospects.

Well, The Pitching Was Good

This year the varsity baseball squad has had its ups and downs, winning several well fought games, and occasionally losing rather badly. The highlight of the season was New Trier's first sweep of a double-header in several years, defeating Oak Park 5 to 3 and 9 to 6 in a twin bill. Coach Lionel "Tige" Lightner and assistant coach Clarence Gable have been faced with a lack of consistency on the part of the ballplayers. Captain Chuck Powell's leadership proved a real asset to the team's record.

In the Suburban League, N.T. fared rather poorly, losing the major portion of its games. After defeating Glenbrook in the first round of the District tournament, the Indians lost to Highland Park and were eliminated from the state meet. The Trierites played a good game against Highland Park in the field, but a lack of hitting (N.T. got none) caused the loss.

Coach Lightner has used a team composed mainly of juniors and several sophomores, so the outlook for the squad in future years is bright, as these experienced ballplayers return.

The mainstays of the varsity pitching staff this year were Mel Burke, Bill Henderson, and Steve Depperman. Mike Doscher was used often in relief. Aside from occasional wildness, the pitching staff was relatively effective throughout the season. Lack of hitting and fielding errors were problems that the squad faced.

Sophis Suffered From Thinned Ranks

The sophomore baseball team has fared about the same as the rest of the N.T. baseball organization. The team probably would have done better, but several of the sophomore players were elected to the varsity squad.

After tying Lane Tech, the sophomores trounced Palatine 10-1. Another tie game this time with Waukegan, was followed by successive losses to Morton, North Chicago, Oak Park, and Evanston. Then victories were recorded over Proviso and Waukegan.

The freshman baseball team started the season by winning a close game from Lane Tech, 5-4. After this the squad was defeated by Waukegan, Morton, and North Chicago in rather one-sided games before triumphing over Oak Park and Evanston. Proviso edged the Trientes 13-5, but once again N.T. bounced back to conquer Waukegan 8-5.

A So-So Start

Putters Bronner, Devlin, Cohen, Zapp, and Harms.

The New Trier varsity golf team, led by Junior Fred Fischl and Jim Bronner, had achieved a three-win and three-loss record at press time. The first two meets of the season were with Joliet Country Club.

At Joliet's home course, the team lost 8½ to 6½. On one of New Trier's home courses, Westmoreland Country Club, the team lost by the identical score of 8½ to 6½. At the next meet, New Trier played against Maine West and defeated them decisively 13 to 2.

The opening league meet with Oak Park proved to be the most exciting match of the early season. Junior Golfer Jim Bronner led his closest teammate by eleven strokes to place first in the meet and assure New Trier's close 8 to 7 victory. New Trier's hole-in-one history repeated itself for the third time as Bronner scored an ace on a 199-yard par three hole. The next meet was lost to league leading Highland Park by a score of 9 to 6. The Proviso East Meet was played in extremely wet and cold weather but New Trier overwhelmed the visitors 13½ to 1½. Fred Fischl who, last year, won second place in the state meet at Champaign, qualified with low medalist honors this year at Skokie Playfield in the district meet. The varsity golf team was coached by Mr. Raymond Fearheiley and Mr. Rodney Leverette.

The frosh-soph team, coached by Mr. Clinton Carlstrom and Mr. C. O. Grater, had a 1-2 record. The team lost to Oak Park and Maine East. The victory was recorded over Proviso 10 to 0.

INTRAMURAL SPORTS ADDED MORE ATHLETIC PROGRAMS FOR ALL BOYS SCHOOL PARTICIPATION INCREASED IN I.M. TOO AS I.M. GREW.

In four short years as a student-run organization, intramural sports has grown in size and importance to become one of the largest organizations in the school. This year much more was required of the intra-successfully. Faculty sponsor Mr. Fred Barney, with his assistants, Mr. Earl Schabel and Mr. William Koser, were invaluable in helping to guide the whole staff. The board had ten members.

The growth of the department was manifested in several phases of New Trier life. Third place honors were won on the staff first float attempt. The intramural bike race has been expanded into an all school field day. G.A.A. joined the intramural department for added support in this race.

The controversial subject in the Rep. meetings was participation. Which should be more important—the quality of adviser room play or the number of boys participating in each advisor room? The board decided that participation was more important. The chance to play should be encouraged. The most recent tabulation showed that 75 % of all New Trier boys participated in some intramural event.

weather were both rough. Some championship games were played in the snow. Emerging as victors for the classes were the advisor rooms of Mr. Fearheiley for the freshmen, Mr. Koser for the sophomores, and Mr. Lerner for the juniors in the championship playoff.

Ken Fisher headed fall tennis, which was greatly hampered by the rainy weather. Golf was headed by Neal Footlik and most of the tournament was played on soggy grounds. Ron Fisher headed horseshoes in which Dave Lauzenbach took the junior title, Steve Behm the sophomore title, and Bill Houk the freshman honors.

EARLY WINTER SPORTS

Individual handball and table tennis, swimming, gymnastics and basketball moved the attention indoors for the winter season.

Table tennis is a single elimination tournament and was run this year by Ron Fisher. Tom Silfen, a senior, won the tournament. Individual handball also was won by Tom Silfen. He and Wendy Carpenter battled for two and a half hours before Silfen emerged victorious. The tournament was run by Joe Kotler.

Swimming and gymnastics were run by Dave Weiss and Neal Footlik and they were helped by the faculty coaches of the teams.

Basketball is the most popular winter sport and the juniors and seniors played during the early winter. Mr. Giallombardo's advisor room was first in the senior competition and beat the juniors in the playoffs. For the first time there was an all-star game between the juniors and the seniors. The seniors won by a large margin. This senior team also beat the faculty in the annual student-faculty game. The tournament was run by Dave Weiss.

LATE WINTER SPORTS

Freshman and sophomore basketball, team table tennis and team handball are offered in the late winter. Both team handball and table tennis were won by Mr. Ellis' advisor room. Table tennis was run by Judd Rosen and handball was run by Ron Fisher. Both are round-robin tournaments.

EARLY SPRING SPORTS

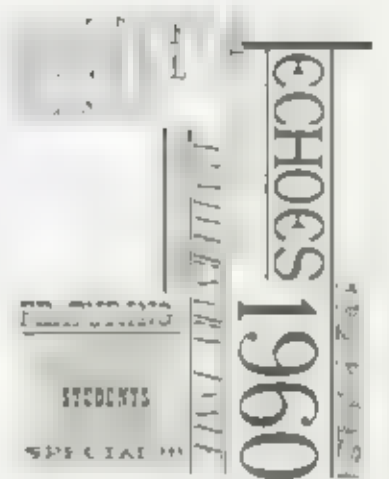

Wrestling, free throw, and volleyball were held in the early spring. Free throw is a four-day tournament in which each boy may enter once. The tournament was run by Dave Weiss. Senior Don Glanz won the event.

Wrestling is a three-week tournament and 210 boys entered. Competition was very stiff. The school champs were Alan Rocen, Lee Bordon, Don Laramie, Al Kinlay, Ace Reichart, Norm Westerhold, Chris Stephens, Jay Landman, Don Budan, Gordon Browning, Dick Trenkman and Dave Mudhenk. The tournament was run by Neal Footlik.

Volleyball was run during March and Mr. Giallombardo's advisor room captured the school title by beating all senior competition and the class champions.

College, Here We Come!

THE SENIORS WOUND UP THEIR HIGH SCHOOL DAYS WITH STUDIES, PARTIES, AND COLLEGE ASPIRATIONS.

The Class of 1960, a grand total of 940 seniors, was the largest graduating class in New Trier's history.

Choice of a college was probably the seniors' foremost concern, and the class felt more than ever the increasing difficulty of college acceptance. Having been aided in their choices by New Trier's system of college conferences, the majority of seniors took the College Entrance Examination Boards. Many took Advanced Placement tests in their fields of concentration. Thirty-four seniors qualified for the Merit Scholarship finals, while four, Alice Barr, Bruce Lewis, Bill Johnson, and an unnamed student, actually won scholarships. In addition, Senior Bob Ward brought honor to New Trier by placing first in the State mathematics exam.

The members of the Class of 1960 were active socially as well as academically. Early in the year, the senior steering committee gave a party to welcome the new senior students. The annual Christmas formal, "The Queen's Ball" and "Fan Fare," took place on December 28 and 31, respectively. All arrangements and decorations for these dances were handled by the senior class.

Senior activities were discussed and planned by the four class officers and the members of the senior steering committee. Faculty guidance was provided by the senior adviser women, Miss Louise Hamilton and Mr. William Gannaway.

Because of the mammoth size of this year's graduating class, conflicts arose over graduation procedures. In a senior assembly, Dr. Cornog outlined the four possible alternatives for the graduation ceremony. A double ceremony, however, would keep graduation on New Trier grounds, without spending money for expensive additions. The Board of Education later decided to accept the double ceremony, drawing lots to determine how to divide the class. Commencement was scheduled for June 16, in the gymnasium.

Leadership, social activities, and college plans were the focal point of the year for the Class of 1961. Guided by adviser chairmen, Miss Frances Bredin and Mr. Roland Wehr, the 935 juniors were an integral part of the school and all its activities.

Early in the fall the following students were chosen to represent the class: Candy Bingham, president; Terry Campbell, vice-president; June Broderick, secretary; and Skip Bennett, treasurer. The officers and steering committee planned the various class affairs and social events.

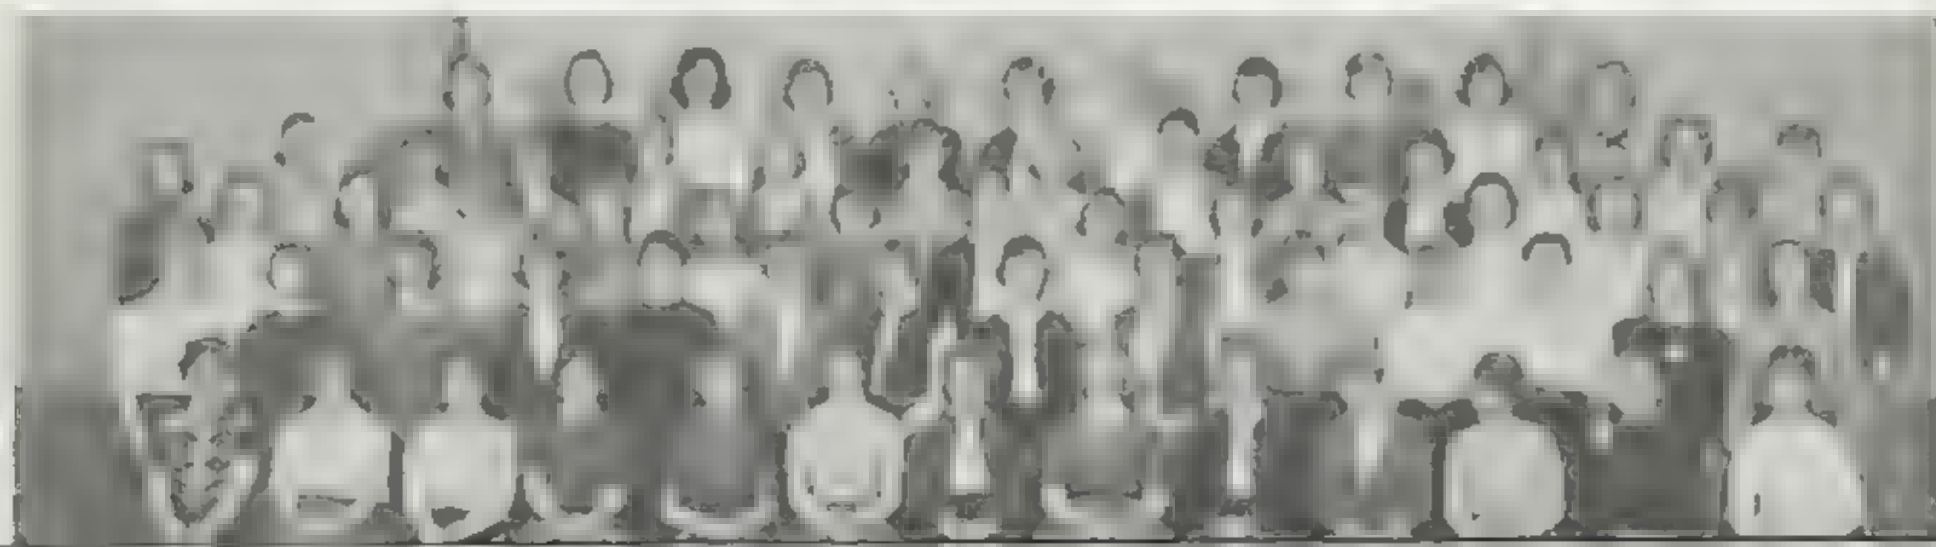

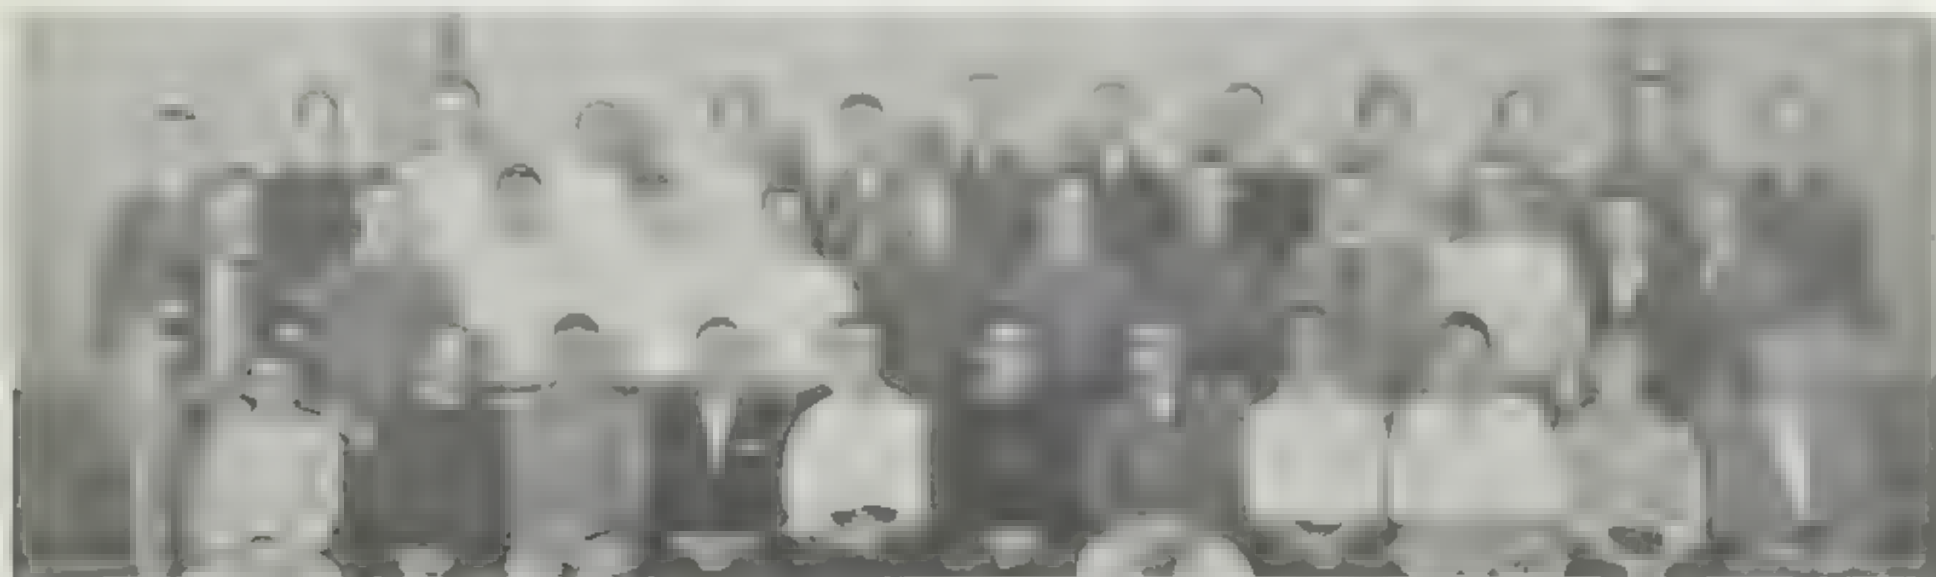

The annual no-date junior class party "It's Here," took place on Saturday, November 7, in the Student Center. Entertainment and decorations complemented the party's Beatnik theme, making it a huge success. The committee, under the direction of various heads, worked to make the evening successful.

The junior girls dance, "Hearts and Flowers," was held February 20 at the Glencoe Women's Library Club. The dance, by tradition a turnabout, was a festive evening. The combined efforts of the decorations committee and the teens. The following people were thanked for the dance: Cissy Rubin and Alice for financial; Nancy Wildt and Susan Fisher, refreshments; Nancy Gorman and Judy Schulz, hostesses; Marilyn Friedner and Sue Vunordge, publicity; and Anne Selt and Linda Sonn, decorations.

This October a new test was given to the juniors. This test, the Pre-Scholastic Aptitude Test, was a shortened version of the objective type test used for college admission. In December all members of the class took the SCAI STEP tests designed to measure the student's progress at the junior level and to aid in college guidance. In March and May many took the Scholastic Aptitude Tests and College Boards, designed for students interested in applying for early admission to colleges. A great number of juniors took the College Entrance Examination Board Tests and the National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Tests. Also, this year a new college guidance program for students and parents was held on Tuesday night, February 9th. The program topic was "So You're Going To College. Where? Why?" which was a question and answer session with two panels, one of four students and the other of four parents. It was moderated by Dr. Cornog, Miss Maloney, and Mr. Gansow. Members of the student panel—Susan Schroeder, Blair Both, Michael Glaser, and Jim Frank.

During the second semester, juniors began to assume a larger part in the principal school activities in preparation for leading the various school activities during the senior year.

SCHOLARSHIPS PREPARED TO MEET THE ADDED RESPONSIBILITIES OF UPPER CLASSMEN

The class of 1962 showed great interest in the activities in which it has participated this year, and through this participation has revealed its true quality. The various parties held during the year helped to bring forth the true spirit of the students. The school year has been a very successful one for the students and the school.

ASTUTE FRESHMEN FOILED THE SALE OF ELEVATOR PERMITS AND THE UPPERCLASS STANDARD OF LIVING FELL TO AN ALL-TIME LOW.

The class of 1963, better known as the Freshman Class, spent their first semester in getting adjusted to school life, and then second in taking an active part in school life. Those who couldn't become completely orientated on Orientation Day, September 11th, still had several places to turn, as the faculty, upperclassmen, and school organizations all were willing to help.

The freshman could take his day-by-day problems to his adviser, and he could take his more complicated ones to Miss Blanche Veatch or to Mr. Larry Irwin, freshmen adviser chairman.

The freshmen also had senior adviser helpers who gave the benefit of their experience to the many beguiled freshmen. The senior helpers also assisted freshmen in planning some of their dances. The "Spook Strut" was one of the parties with which the seniors helped. The freshman girls were entertained by the sophomore big sisters at another party.

Even during the best few weeks of the school term the freshmen began to take part in the activities of the school organizations. The boys learned about Tri-Slap and worked on accumulating the points required for initiation. The girls, after attending the G.A.A. demonstration at the beginning of the year, became the organization's most enthusiastic supporters. At the Freshman-Senior party the girls were introduced to Girl's Club.

By the second semester the Freshmen Class became self-governing. Rob Hatcher,

CHARLES KINDRED

Paula Wheaton, Kathy Becker, and Charles Kindred were elected class officers. The freshmen then went on to great heights at New Trier. They foiled the attempts of many upperclassmen to lead them astray. The freshmen no longer bought elevator permits and free lunch passes. The Freshman Class finished this year well prepared to carry on the grave and heavy responsibilities of the Sophomore class.
